"Combin has allowed me to devote more time to actual work instead of spending hours on mundane search and interaction with potentially interested people.

It's the tool I was looking for and I recommend Combin to all brands that rely on Instagram marketing in aim to get genuine feedback and real deals."

"Combin does exactly what it promises — helps attracting real active followers without putting your Instagram account at risk of being banned.

Special attention should be given to its clean design and user-friendly interface. That's what all modern applications should look and be like!"

Story

Combin project was started by a team of skilled developers and digital marketing specialists in 2016. Both parties were concerned with the amount of risky, robotic tools flooding the market of Instagram growth software. They decided to combine forces in order to create a smart, safe and easy to use tool that they could and would use themselves for Instagram management and audience building.

The fist beta-version of the application was released a few months later the same year and distributed to digital marketing specialists. Even though the initial version had only a small quantity of the most essential features, it got a warm reception from the marketers and the team proceeded to improve their brainchild.

Combin of today is a seamless organic Instagram growth tool with 30 000 active users. The application users are individuals and small business owners who hand over the task of automating Instagram activity to Combin and attract new real followers daily with its help.
